Vermont's Marijuana Laws-What is Allowed and What You Should Know:

On July 1, 2018, VT state law H.511 will take effect eliminating penalties for possession of marijuana by adults 21 or older. For adults 21 and older, the statute legalizes possession of: one ounce of marijuana and five grams of hashish; and cultivation of two mature marijuana plants and four immature (not yet flowering/no buds) marijuana plants. What does this mean for our communities and our youth?

It is important for our communities to know that it is illegal to consume marijuana in a public place, including: streets, parks, or sidewalks; public buildings; places of "public accommodation" (schools, restaurants, stores); and any place where use of a lighted tobacco product or tobacco substitute is prohibited by law. Municipalities may adopt an ordinance to provide additional penalties for consuming marijuana in public places. Schools may impose administrative penalties for possession of marijuana on school property, and employers may prohibit or otherwise regulate use, possession, transfer, or growing of marijuana in the workplace.

Landlords may ban possession or use of marijuana in lease agreements and cultivation is permitted only with written consent of the property owner. If permitted by owner, each dwelling unit is limited to two mature plants and four immature plants, regardless of how many adults 21+ live in the unit.

It is illegal to use marijuana in a motor vehicle occupied by a child under 18, and it is illegal for the driver or passengers to use marijuana or possess marijuana in an open container while the vehicle is in operation.

The penalties for social hosting related to marijuana are similar to alcohol. If you host a party that is attended by persons under the age of 21, and marijuana is consumed, you could face criminal and civil penalties. It is illegal to give marijuana to persons under 21, or to create a "direct and immediate opportunity" for a person under 21 to consume marijuana. Violations carry penalties of up to 2 years in jail and fines of up to $2000.

From the Coordinator's Desk...

I wanted to address an issue concerning teenage use of liquid nicotine.

Increasing numbers of students across the country are being found in possession of, or using, liquid nicotine products, such as Vaporizers, E-Cigarettes, and other Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems (ENDS). This is occurring here and across the nation's schools. We want to make sure that parents and community members are aware of what some of these products are, and the dangers that they pose to our children.

Multiple instruments exist that people can use to engage in vaping, but one that has been gaining prevalence amongst teens is a product known as JUUL. Students refer to using this product as JUULing. Juuls are small pods that contain high levels of nicotine: one pod contains the nicotine equivalent found in one entire pack of cigarettes. They come in multiple colors representing enticing flavors of vapor like mint, mango and cr me brulee. Many youth don't even know it's nicotine they're inhaling when they vape with this trendy device. JUUL devices heat up a cartridge containing oils to create vapor, which quickly dissolves into the air. The device is small enough to fit in a closed fist and has a sleek, tech-inspired design that resembles a USB flash drive, so is easily concealed.

Our kids face many dangers these days, and while we cannot always stop them from engaging in some of these behaviors, we can educate them on the damage these products can cause. As many of you know, science takes a good deal of time to catch up to the impact of new products that hit the market, and the research on liquid nicotine is still developing, but we know nicotine is a highly addictive substance. We are hoping that you can help us get the message out, loud and clear, that these products are not safe for youth. Still looking for more information? Feel free to call me at 464-2202.
